Instructions for Preparation of the Bank Holding Company Report of Changes in Investments and Activities— (FRY-6A)

General Instructions

All top-tier bank holding companies are required to file the Bank Holding Company Report of Changes in Investments and Activities to report changes to the bank holding company and its regulated investments.

Changes include acquisitions, divestitures, transfers, name or location changes, and corrections to incorrectly reported information. The top-tier bank holding company must report this information to the appropriate Reserve Bank and should report for all regulated entities in the bank holding company's corporate structure including lower-tier bank holding companies. The report must be filed within 30 calendar days of the change.

Organization of the Instructions

The instruction book is divided into six sections:

- (1) The General Instructions describing overall reporting requirements.
- (2) The Specific Instructions for completing the Cover Page,
- (3) The Specific Instructions for completing the Characteristics Schedule of the report,
- (4) The Specific Instructions for completing the Activities/Investments Schedule of the report,
- (5) Appendices including explanations of regulatory provisions,
- (6) Detailed examples of how to complete the report.

Who Must Report

Companies reportable on the FRY-6A include:

- The bank holding company itself,
- All banking and nonbanking subsidiaries of the bank holding company as well as subsidiaries of its banks and nonbanks. Subsidiaries of the bank holding company will be controlled either directly by the bank holding company or indirectly through other subsidiaries. Subsidiary means any bank or other company that is controlled as defined in Regulation Y,

- All companies which the bank holding company, directly or indirectly through a controlled company (subsidiary), owns or controls in excess of 5 percent of any class of voting shares,
- Banks, bank holding companies, and other companies acquired in the regular course of securing or collecting a debt contracted in good faith, if the acquiring bank holding company directly or indirectly owns or controls in excess of 5 percent of any class of voting shares,
- Companies established by the bank holding company or its subsidiaries to hold assets acquired through the regular course of securing or collecting a debt contracted in good faith, if the bank holding company will directly or indirectly own or control in excess of 5 percent of any class of voting shares,
- All banks or bank holding companies which the bank holding company, directly or indirectly through a controlled company, owns or controls 25 percent or more of any class of nonvoting equity,
- All partnerships (general or limited) in which the bank holding company, directly or indirectly through a controlled company, owns or controls a proportionate interest representing in excess of 5 percent,
- All companies which the bank holding company, directly or indirectly through a controlled company, otherwise controls or manages,
- All companies that are held in a fiduciary capacity when ownership, control, or beneficial interest of the

acquired company exceeds 5 percent of any class of voting shares and the shares are held for the benefit of the bank holding company, its shareholders, or its employees,

- All banks or bank holding companies held by a subsidiary bank or other subsidiary company in a fiduciary capacity when ownership or control exceeds 5 percent of any class of voting shares and the subsidiary bank or other subsidiary company has the sole discretionary power to vote the shares,
- Companies of which more than 5 percent of any class of voting shares are directly held by a Small Business Investment Company that is a subsidiary and is registered with the Small Business Administration,
- All qualified savings banks, as defined in section 2(m) of the Bank Holding Company Act, where the bank holding company directly or indirectly owns or controls in excess of 5 percent of any class of voting shares,
- All companies, which the bank holding company, directly or indirectly through a controlled qualified savings bank, owns or controls in excess of 5 percent of any class of voting shares,
- Until further notice, report all investments in Edge and agreement corporations, which the bank holding company, directly or indirectly through a controlled company, owns in excess of 5 percent of any class of voting shares,¹
- All companies where the Board has determined control in accordance with Section 225.31 of Regulation Y.

Do not report the following:

- Assets (other than shares of a company) acquired in lieu of debts previously contracted,
- Companies in which the ownership interest or control is 5 percent or less of any class of voting shares,
- Banks or bank holding companies in which the sole ownership interest or control is less than 25 percent of any class of non-voting shares,

1. Investments in Edge and agreement corporations may become reportable on the revised FR 2064; they would no longer be reported on the FR Y-6A after the revised FR 2064 is implemented.

- Companies (other than banks or bank holding companies) where the sole ownership interest or control is through non-voting equity,
- Companies set up as shell organizations or name-saving organizations that have not yet engaged in any business activities,
- Activities that have been approved but not yet commenced,
- Companies that have been formed or incorporated but do not yet conduct any business activity. These companies become reportable upon the commencement of an activity.

Filing by Tiered Bank Holding Companies

A single report should be filed by the top tier of a multi-tiered bank holding company organization. A tiered bank holding company occurs when a bank holding company indirectly controls a bank through another controlled bank holding company which owns, controls, or holds with power to vote 25 percent or more of the outstanding shares of any class of voting securities or otherwise controls the bank.

What Must Be Reported

All types of transactions affecting the organizational structure of a bank holding company must be reported. These transactions include:

Investments

- The cessation of reportability of companies owned directly or indirectly by companies sold, merged, liquidated, or control of which ceased,
- The formation of a new bank holding company,
- The acquisition of shares by a bank holding company or any of its directly or indirectly controlled companies,
- The sale of shares by a bank holding company or any of its directly or indirectly controlled companies,
- The transfer of shares from one company to another within the same bank holding company organization,

General Instructions

- The liquidation of any company held directly or indirectly by the bank holding company,
- The establishment or cessation of control of a company, in any manner, by a bank holding company.

Activities

- The commencement of a new business activity by the bank holding company or any reportable company within the bank holding company organization. This includes the recommencement of activities previously conducted,
- The cessation of a business activity by the bank holding company or any reportable company within the bank holding company organization,
- A change in the primary business activity of any company within the bank holding company organization.

Changes to Characteristics

- Changes to the legal name of a bank holding company or any reportable company within the bank holding company organization,
- Changes to the mailing address of a bank holding company,
- Changes to the physical address of the reporting bank holding company.
- Changes to the physical location of any reportable company within the bank holding company organization,
- Changes to specific characteristics information of the reporting bank holding company or any reportable company within the bank holding company organization.

Initial Reporting

A bank holding company submitting this report for the first time must report for itself and all companies owned directly or indirectly at the time the company became a bank holding company. To determine which direct and indirectly owned companies are reportable, see pages 1–2 of the General Instructions. It is recommended that bank holding companies filing for the first time provide an organization chart containing all reportable companies as a supplement to the FR Y–6A report.

Report Preparation and Submission

Top-tier bank holding companies are required to prepare and file the Bank Holding Company Report of Changes in Investments or Activities in accordance with these instructions to reflect an accurate presentation of the bank holding company's organizational structure.

The original report and one copy should be submitted within 30 calendar days of a reportable transaction. Reports should be submitted to the Federal Reserve Bank of the District in which the majority of the top tier bank holding company's banking operations are principally conducted as measured by total domestic deposits in its subsidiary banks on the day it became a bank holding company. The term "submission date" is defined as the date by which a bank holding company's completed original Bank Holding Company Report of Changes in Investments or Activities (FRY–6A) must be received by the appropriate Federal Reserve Bank. Earlier submission would aid the Federal Reserve in reviewing and processing the reports and is encouraged.

Bank holding companies that are unable to obtain the required officers' signatures on their completed original reports in sufficient time to file these reports so that they are received by the submission deadline may contact the Federal Reserve Bank to which they mail their original reports to arrange for the timely submission of their report data and the subsequent filing of their signed reports.

Amended Reports

The Federal Reserve may require the filing of an amended Bank Holding Company Report of Changes in Investments or Activities if reports as previously submitted contain significant errors.

Confidentiality

The completed version of this report generally is available to the public upon request on an individual basis. However, a reporting bank holding company may request confidential treatment for portions of the Bank Holding Company Report of Changes in Investments and Activities (FRY–6A) if the bank holding company is of the opinion that disclosure of specific information in the report would likely result in substantial harm to its competitive position, or that disclosure of the submitted information would result in unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

A request for confidential treatment must be submitted in writing concurrently with the submission of the report. The request must discuss in writing the justification for the confidentiality requested and must demonstrate the specific nature of the harm that would result from public release of the information. Merely stating that competitive harm would result or that information is personal is not sufficient.

WHEN CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT IS REQUESTED, THE FRY-6A COVER SHEET SHOULD BE LABELED "CONFIDENTIAL." THIS INFORMATION SHOULD BE SPECIFICALLY IDENTIFIED AS BEING CONFIDENTIAL.

WHEN REQUESTING CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT, SUBMIT CONFIDENTIAL MATERIAL UNDER SEPARATE COVER, MARKED "CONFIDENTIAL".

Information for which confidential treatment is requested may subsequently be released by the Federal Reserve System if the Board of Governors determines that the disclosure of such information is in the public interest.

Additional Reporting Materials

In instances such as large mergers or corporate reorganizations where numerous structure changes occur, a bank holding company may submit additional material such as before and after organization charts to aid reporting these complex transactions. Additionally, a narrative description of complex transactions may be submitted for purposes of clarity. The inclusion of these additional materials is encouraged when reporting complex changes. Furthermore, it is recommended that bank holding companies reporting for the first time file an organization chart. These additional materials will not be accepted as a substitute for the Bank Holding Company Report of Changes in Investments and Activities (FRY-6A).

Information Requests

In instances involving the merger of organizations, the reporting bank holding company may request information from the appropriate Federal Reserve Bank(s) to assist them in preparing a comprehensive report of the transaction by accounting for all entities in both organizations. For example, a report indicating the structure of the nonsurviving bank holding company prior to the merger may be of assistance to the reporting bank holding company in ensuring all companies previously reported as part of the nonsurviving organization are accounted for on the FRY-6A report.

Report Format

The Bank Holding Company Report of Changes in Investments and Activities (FRY-6A) is comprised of three parts:

- 1) Cover Page
- 2) Characteristics Schedule
- 3) Investments and Activities Schedule

Due to the nature of reporting changes in structure and activities information, it will not always be necessary to file both schedules.

The cover page must be completed and filed with all reportable changes. Changes to the physical location or mailing address of the reporting bank holding company should be indicated on this page by marking the appropriate box. See the specific instructions for this page for more detailed information.

A submission of the Bank Holding Company Report of Changes in Investments and Activities (FRY-6A) should be accompanied by a completed cover sheet containing the signature of an officer of the bank holding company. One submission is defined as all schedules included as of one report date. One submission may contain transactions occurring on the same day, or may contain transactions occurring on different days as long as each transaction is reported within the 30 calendar day deadline. The content of each submission will vary depending on the type of activity being reported. Several supporting schedules may be included with one cover sheet.

The Characteristics Schedule must be used to report all changes to legal names and physical location information for any entity within the bank holding company organization. Additionally, this schedule should be filed to provide characteristics information for an entity that has established its initial relationship with the bank holding company organization. See the specific instructions for this schedule for more detailed information.

The schedule provides space for one name or address change to be reported. If more than one name or address change has occurred, multiple copies of the schedule should be submitted as necessary. Likewise, the schedule provides space for reporting the characteristics information for only one new company, or for changes to the characteristics information of one company that is an existing part of the bank holding company's organizational structure. If more space is needed, multiple copies of the schedule should be submitted.

The Investments and Activities Schedule should be used to report all acquisitions, divestitures, transfers, mergers, and liquidations of all reportable companies. Additionally, the commencement or cessation of a business activity by any entity in the bank holding company organization should be reported on this schedule. Also list the cessation of reportability of companies whose direct parents are no longer controlled. All changes in investments and activities should be reported on this schedule. If more space is needed, multiple copies of the schedule should be submitted. See the specific instructions for this schedule for more detailed information.

SPECIFIC INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE

Characteristics Schedule—(FRY-6A)

This schedule should be used to report the following:

- 1) Characteristics information on bank holding companies reporting for the first time.
- 2) The initial characteristic information for a newly acquired, or newly organized reportable company within the bank holding company organization. (This should be accompanied by a detailed report of the acquisition on the Investments/Activities Schedule),
- 3) Changes to the Legal Name of any reportable company within the bank holding company organization,
- 4) Changes to the physical location of any entity within the bank holding company organization,
- 5) Changes to the characteristics information of any reportable company within the bank holding company organization.

SECTION A) NAME/ADDRESS CHANGES

It is critical to the Federal Reserve that all name and address changes be reported in a timely manner. Reporting such changes enables the Federal Reserve to effectively track and monitor bank holding companies and their investments. Failure to report name and location changes may cause inaccuracies in a company's records, resulting in additional or amended reporting.

Legal Name

Complete Section A of the Characteristics Schedule to report a change to the legal name of any reportable company within the bank holding company organization.

This schedule provides space for reporting one name change on each page. If more than one name change is being reported, the blank schedule should be duplicated, and the appropriate number of Characteristics Schedules should be filed.

For a single name change, three items of information must be reported: current name, previous name, and effective date. These items should be reported on line 1 of the Name/Address Changes section of the schedule. When reporting a name change to a company acquired from another bank holding company organization, file the acquisition under the previously reported name and file a name change schedule separately.

Current Information

Provide the new legal name of the organization. This is the name as it is now legally registered.

Previous Information

Provide the legal name of the company as previously reported to the Federal Reserve. This is the old name of the company.

Effective Date

Report the date on which the change to the legal name of the company became effective. This date is always assumed to be the opening of business.

Address

Section A of the Characteristics Schedule should be used for reporting changes to the physical city, county, state/country, and zip code of any reportable company within the bank holding company organization.

Changes to the physical street address of any top-tier or subsidiary bank holding company are reportable. Changes to the street address of the reporting bank holding company may be indicated on the cover page, while changes to the address of any lower-tier bank holding company should be reported on the Characteristics Schedule.

Address Change for the Reporting Bank Holding Company

To report a change in the physical address of the reporting bank holding company, provide the new address information for the company on the cover sheet of the Bank Holding Company Report of Changes in Investments and Activities (FRY-6A). The box below the address information preceded by the phrase "Check here if address changed" should be marked. Previously reported address information need not be reported.

Address Change for a Lower Tier Subsidiary Bank Holding Company

To report a change to the physical address of a bank holding company that is a subsidiary of the reporting bank holding company, use the Section A of the Characteristics Schedule.

Provide the legal name of the company for which an address change is being reported on line 1. Complete lines 2 and 3 to indicate the physical address information previously reported and the new address information. Provide the effective date of the address change.

Address Change for Companies Other Than Bank Holding Companies

To report a change to the physical location (city, state/country, zip code) of a reportable company that is not a bank holding company, use Section A of the Characteristics Schedule. For companies other than bank holding companies, the physical street address is not reportable.

Provide the legal name of the company for which an address change is being reported on line 1. Complete line 3 to indicate the previous and current city, county, state/country, and zip code information. Provide the effective date of the address change.

SECTION B) OTHER CHARACTERISTICS

Specific characteristics information is required for all reportable companies that are part of a bank holding company organization, including the reporting bank holding company. These characteristics define the type of companies held by the bank holding company and are instrumental to the Federal Reserve in its monitoring activities.

Reporting Characteristics of a Reportable Company

Full characteristics information for each newly acquired reportable company must be reported at the time the company commences a business activity. Section A and Section B of the Characteristics Schedule should be used to report characteristics information for a newly acquired reportable company. Additionally, the Investments and Activities Schedule must be completed to accurately represent the organizational structure of the bank holding company organization.

Reporting Changes to Characteristics of Previously Reported Companies

To report a change to the charter type, organization type, fiscal year end, or SEC reporting status of a company that has been previously reported, use Section B of the Characteristic Schedule. For the characteristic that has changed, provide the new information and the effective date of the change.

Investments and Activities Schedule—(FR Y-6A)

What To Report

The Investments and Activities Schedule should be used to report all changes in the regulated investments and activities of a reportable company within the bank holding company organization as defined in the general instructions.

The schedule is designed so that each business event may be reported as a separate transaction. Although several events may have occurred on the same day or simultaneously, each should be reported as a separate transaction. For example, if a new subsidiary was established and it acquired a reportable company on the same day, a separate schedule should be filed for each company. The establishment of the new subsidiary should be reported as one transaction on one schedule and the acquisition of the reportable company by the new subsidiary should be reported on a separate schedule.

In instances where a company is acquired and its name is simultaneously changed, report the acquisition under the company's former name and provide name change information on the Characteristics Schedule.

The following are examples of business transactions that should be reported on this schedule:

Investments

- Formation of a new bank holding company,
- The initial acquisition or reacquisition of an existing active company by the bank holding company or by a direct or indirect subsidiary of the bank holding company,
- The formation of a new company as part of the bank holding company organization (NOTE: these companies become reportable once they commence an activity),

- The transfer of all or part of a company to another subsidiary within the bank holding company organization,
- The sale of all or part of a reportable company to an unaffiliated company,
- The liquidation of a reportable company,
- Any merger involving at least one company within the bank holding company organization,
- An increase or decrease in the percentage of voting or nonvoting equity of a reportable company,
- The establishment of a non-equity based relationship with any company in the bank holding company organization in which a controlling relationship exists. This includes management contracts, and control of directors,
- The establishment of reportable fiduciary relationships.
- The establishment of an additional basis for a relationship between two companies that have a pre-existing relationship.

Activities

- The commencement of a new business activity by the reporting bank holding company or any reportable company within the bank holding company organization,
- The cessation of a business activity by the reporting bank holding company or any reportable company within the bank holding company organization,
- A change in the primary business activity of any reportable company within the bank holding company organization,
- A change in the regulatory provision as a result of a transfer to another subsidiary, commencement of a new activity, or a change in the DPC Indicator.

Investments and Activities Schedule

Note: Activities that are approved but not yet commenced are not reportable on this form. New activities are reportable upon their commencement.

Reportable Items

Information reported on the Investments and Activities schedule should provide an accurate representation of transactions affecting the organizational structure and activities of the bank holding company organization. Information on each transaction should be complete and should indicate the type of transaction, when the transaction occurred, the companies involved in the transaction, and which regulatory provision applies to the transaction.

The Investments and Activities Schedule provides space for reporting one investment transaction and one activity transaction. If more transactions are being reported, duplicate the Investments and Activities Schedule and submit the appropriate number of schedules.

Certain items are required for all transactions while others pertain only to specific types of reportable transactions. See the item descriptions and sample business transactions for more information.

In certain instances, such as the acquisition or formation of a new company, detailed information on the Investments and Activities Schedule must be accompanied by characteristics information. This characteristics information must be filed on the Characteristics Schedule and included in the report submission.

Item Descriptions

Legal Name of the Subject Entity: Enter the legal name of the entity that is the subject of the transaction. For investment transactions such as acquisitions, divestitures, or transfers, use the name of the company that was acquired, divested, or transferred. When reporting the commencement or cessation of a business activity, the subject entity is the company which is conducting or has ceased to conduct the specified business activity. This item must be reported.

When reporting the acquisition of a company whose name was subsequently changed, report the acquisition under the previous name of the company and file a separate name change on the Characteristics Schedule.

Physical Location of the Subject Entity (City, State/Country): Provide the city, state/country (if non-U.S.) of the subject company.

Legal Name of the Direct Holder/Survivor: This item indicates the direct holder of the subject company and is required when reporting a change in an investment. When reporting a merger, the name of the surviving company should be reported here.

Physical Location of the Direct Holder/Survivor (City, State/Country):

Provide the city, state/country (if non-U.S.) of the direct holder/survivor.

Investment Transactions

Transaction Type: Indicate the type of transaction being reported. This item must be reported for all investment transactions. Select a code from the following list.

ADL (Additional Basis of Relationship): This transaction code should be used to report that an additional basis for a relationship between two entities exists. For example, if a relationship between two entities exists based on the ownership of 40% of the nonvoting equity in a company, and the direct holder of the nonvoting equity makes an additional investment by purchasing 4% of the voting equity, the transaction type reported would be ADL. (See Basis of Relationship.)

CMNC (Commencement of Relationship): This transaction code should be used to report the commencement of a new relationship with the subject entity as well as the recommencement of a relationship.

DEC (Decrease in Percentage Owned): This code should be used to report a partial decrease in voting or nonvoting equity in the subject company when the subject company is still reportable. For liquidations, mergers, and sales of companies resulting in a complete elimination of the investment, or if the investment is no longer reportable, use the specific codes provided below. Note that DEC should not be used for transfers within the holding company organization; instead TRT and TRF should be used.

INC (Increase in Percentage): This transaction code should be used to report an increase in voting or nonvoting equity in the subject company.

Investments and Activities Schedule

LIQ (Liquidation): This transaction code should be used to report the liquidation of a company that is part of the bank holding company organization. This code should not be used to indicate the sale of the entire interest in an entity. Use the transaction code SALE for that event.

MGR (Merger): This transaction code should be used to report a merger of the subject company and the survivor. When reporting a bank or depository institution merger, indicate whether the head office of the entity that is merged out of existence (subject company) continues as a branch of the surviving entity (survivor).

NLR (No Longer Reportable): Use this transaction code to indicate that the previously reported investment in the subject entity no longer meets the reportability criteria.

OTH (Other): This transaction code should be used to report transactions that cannot be classified by the available transaction type codes. In instances where this code is used, a narrative description of the transaction must be submitted describing the details of the transaction.

SALE (Sale of an Entity): This transaction code should be used to report the sale of the reporting company's entire interest in an entity to an unaffiliated entity. If the entity was sold to another regulated bank holding company, indicate the name of the company in the space provided.

TRF (Transferred From): This transaction code should be used to report the transfer of an entity within the bank holding company organization. This should be used when an entity is transferred from one controlled direct holder in the bank holding company organization to another controlled direct holder in the same bank holding company organization. Additionally, this code should be used for partial transfer within the bank holding company organization.

Information on this transaction must include the name of the subject entity and the previous direct holder. This must be accompanied by another transaction labeled TRT (Transferred To), to indicate the new direct holder.

TRT (Transferred To): This transaction code should be used to report the transfer of an entity within the bank holding company organization. This should be used when an entity is transferred from one controlled direct holder in the bank holding company organization to another controlled direct holder in the same bank holding company organization. This code should also be used for partial transfers within the bank holding company organization.

Information on this transaction must include the name of the subject entity and the new direct holder. This must be preceded by another transaction labeled TRF (Transferred From), to indicate the previous direct holder.

Transaction Date: Indicate the date on which the transaction occurred. This date is always assumed to be the close of business for LIQ, NLR, SALE, and TRF transactions. The date for all other transactions is assumed to be the opening of business.

Basis of Relationship: This item indicates the basis for a relationship when reporting a new investment or a change to an existing investment. Multiple bases for a relationship may exist between two entities and should be reported separately. Once a company meets the reportability criteria, all basis, regardless of percent, should be reported. Choose from the following list:

EQT (Equity): Ownership of the voting equity (shares of stock or proportionate interest in a partnership) not through a fiduciary (FB,FNBV).

NVT (Nonvoting Equity): Ownership of nonvoting equity not through a fiduciary (FB,FNBV).

MGT (Management Contract): Management contract or similar instrument which provides that the company is managed or controlled by or operated on behalf of the bank holding company organization.

DIR (Election of Majority of Directors): Control in any manner over the election of the majority of the directors or trustees of the subject company.

FB (Fiduciary/Beneficiary): Subject company is held for the benefit of the bank holding company, its shareholders, or its employees.

FNBV (Fiduciary/Not Beneficiary): Subject company (bank or bank holding company) is held by a subsidiary bank or other subsidiary company in good faith in a fiduciary capacity. Additionally, the shares of the bank or other subsidiary company are held with sole discretionary power to vote.

OTH (Other): A basis for the relationship that is not classifiable using the codes provided. A description of the basis for the relationship must be provided when this code is used.

Percent Equity: The percent of voting control, nonvoting equity, proportionate interest or other form of control as indicated in the item labeled 'Basis of Relationship.' This item is not applicable for relationships based on management contract (MGT), or control over the election of the majority of directors (DIR). The percent equity must be provided for all other investment transactions. When multiple bases for a relationship are reported, the percent equity figures should be reported separately and should correspond to the basis indicated. The resulting percent should be reported in this field when the transaction code is either INC (Increase in Percentage) or DEC (Decrease in Percentage).

The reportability of a company is based on the ownership or control of more than 5% of a class of voting shares or 25% or more of a class of nonvoting shares (banks or bank holding companies). Therefore, the percent of voting control could be 5 or less, and the percent of nonvoting equity could be less than 25.

Control Indicator: This item indicates whether the subject entity is controlled by the direct holder. To report that the subject company is controlled by the direct holder, respond with 'Y'. To report that the subject company is not controlled by the direct holder, respond with 'N'.

Any company has control over a bank or company if:

- a) the company directly or indirectly or acting through one or more other persons owns, controls, or has power to vote 25 per centum or more of any class of voting securities of the bank or company;
- b) the company controls in any manner the election of the majority of the directors or trustees of the bank or company; or
- c) the Board determines, after notice and opportunity for hearing, that the company directly or indirectly exercises a controlling influence over the management or policies of the bank or company.

It should be noted that all subsidiaries of the bank holding company are considered controlled either directly or indirectly by the bank holding company. Subsidiary means any bank or other company that is controlled by a company. An indirect subsidiary of the bank holding company is one that is controlled by a subsidiary of the bank holding company.

DPC (Debts Previously Contracted): This item indicates whether shares held in the subject company were acquired in lieu of debts previously contracted, or in the case of a newly reportable company, whether it was established or acquired for purposes of holding, managing, or liquidating assets acquired in lieu of debts previously contracted. Use one of the following codes:

N/A—To indicate the subject company was not acquired in lieu of debts previously contracted nor established to acquire DPC assets.

1—To indicate that shares of the subject company were acquired in lieu of debts previously contracted.

2—To indicate that the subject company is holding and/or liquidating assets acquired in lieu of debts previously contracted.

If the value of '1' is selected, report only the activity code and description associated with the activity conducted by the subject company. The regulatory code and regulatory provision is not required.

If the value of '2' is selected, it is not necessary to report an Activities transaction.

This item is required when reporting any commencement of a relationship (acquisitions and newly established companies) (CMNC), transfer (TRF and TRT), and increases in percent equity (INC).

Correction (Y, N): Enter 'Y' to indicate that this transaction is a correction to a previously submitted transaction. Please provide a brief narrative concerning both this transaction and the erroneous transaction. If this is not a correction, enter 'N'.

Did subject continue as a branch of survivor? (Y,N)

This item is required when reporting a merger (MGR) of depository institutions. If the former head office of the entity which ceases to exist (non-survivor) continues as a branch of the entity which continues to exist after the merger (survivor), the response to this item should be 'Y'. If the former head office did not continue as a branch of the surviving entity, the response should be 'N'.

Investments and Activities Schedule

If Subject Entity was Purchased From or Sold to Another Bank Holding Company, Indicate the Name and Location of the Seller or Buyer

This information indicates whether the shares acquired or sold were purchased from or sold to an unaffiliated bank holding company organization. This enables the Federal Reserve to monitor transfers of ownership and ensure that records for both bank holding companies are correct.

This item is only required when reporting the purchase or sale of a regulated interest in an entity.

Activities Transactions

Transaction Type: Indicate the type of transaction being reported. This item must be reported for all activity and regulatory provision transactions.

CMNC (Commencement of New Activity): This transaction code should be used to report the commencement of a new business activity and/or regulatory provision by the subject entity. This code should also be used when reporting the recommencement of an activity.

PRIM: This transaction code should be used to indicate that the primary business activity of any reportable company in the bank holding company organization has changed. This transaction code should be reported with the activity code that represents the new primary activity of a company. Report a separate transaction if the previous primary activity has been terminated. Failure to do so indicates that the activity continues to be conducted, but is no longer the primary activity.

TERM (Termination of an Activity): This code should be used to report that the subject company has ceased conducting a specific activity. If a company ceases its only or last activity, the company continues to be reportable until it is divested.

Transaction Date: Indicate the date on which the transaction occurred. This date is always assumed to be the close of business for a TERM transaction. The date for all other transactions is assumed to be the opening of business.

Regulatory Code/Regulatory Provision: Provide information on the statutory or regulatory provision or Board Order under which each business activity is conducted or each investment is made. Many of the regulatory provisions pertain to activities conducted by a company directly, or indirectly through an investment in another company conducting a specific business activity.

For activities and acquisitions requiring an application or notification to the Federal Reserve, the regulatory provision will appear on the applications information or Federal Reserve approval documents. For activities and acquisitions exempt from the applications process, indicate the regulatory provision in which such exemption is stated.

When citing a Board Order as the Regulatory Provision, provide the date of the Board Order and the Regulatory Provision.

Appendix A provides a cross reference for the regulatory provision and the regulatory code that should be entered on this form. Refer to both the BHC Act and Regulation Y to determine the appropriate provision for a given activity. After verifying that the provision is correct, choose the code representing the appropriate regulatory provision from Appendix A of the instructions. The regulatory code and the regulatory provision should be entered using the proper legal citation. For example, the regulatory provision for a regulatory code of 7 is BHC Act, Sect. 3(a)(1)/Reg Y, Sec. 225.11(a).

These items are required in conjunction with investment information for all reportable transactions except transfers (TRF), sales (SALE), liquidations (LIQ), decreases in percent equity (DEC), certain increases in percent equity (INC), the termination of a business activity (TERM), and cessations of reportability (NLR).

Activity Code

Provide the activity code that best corresponds to each business activity conducted by the subject company. All business activities of the reporting bank holding company and its regulated investments must be reported.

This item is required for all activities transactions. Activities of newly organized companies should be reported when the entity actually begins to conduct the activity. Activities that are approved but not yet commenced (for either an existing company or a newly organized company) are not reportable on this form. New business activities become reportable upon their commencement. Activity codes can be found in Appendix B.

Investments and Activities Schedule

Use codes from the Standard Industrial Classification Manual (1987) when the codes in Appendix B do not sufficiently describe the business activity. Do not provide both the SIC code and the Bank Holding Company code.

When reporting on companies that became totally inactive, “ALL” should be reported for Activity Code to indicate all activities have ceased. Report “TERM” as a transaction type when a specific activity is no longer conducted.

If a newly organized or newly acquired company conducts more than one business activity, include the primary business activity of the subject company with the information on the formation or acquisition. Mark the primary business activity of the subject company with a “(P)” (ie: 21AA (P)). Provide information on other business activities of the company as separate transactions (Commencement of New Activity—CMNC).

The commencement of a new business activity by a previously reported company can be submitted as one transaction—Commencement of a New Activity (CMNC).

All activity codes reported in this item should be accompanied by a text description of the business activity under “Activity Description.”

Activity Description

A text description of the activity code that is conducted.

Correction (Y, N): Enter ‘Y’ to indicate that this transaction is a correction to a previously submitted transaction. Please provide a brief narrative concerning both this transaction and the erroneous transaction. If this is not a correction, enter ‘N’.
