

Glens Falls Metro Economic Indicators

Located just north of Albany in the Capital Region, the Glens Falls metropolitan area is one of New York's smallest metropolitan areas, with a population of more than 125,000. Manufacturing is an important source of jobs in the region, particularly a thriving medical devices segment, though manufacturing employment as a whole has been cut substantially since 1990. Growth in the health care sector has helped mitigate some of these losses. The area has a thriving leisure and hospitality sector, partly owing to Glens Falls' access to recreational attractions such as the Adirondack Mountains, Lake George, and nearby ski resorts.
